The 1910 Reunion, Hartford	309

P R E F A C E

The Society of Descendants of Henry Wolcott had its beginning when a few Wolcotts in Ashtabula County, Ohio decided to hold a family reunion on September 23, 1905, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sereno E. Wolcott, East Orwell, Ohio, with forty-three persons present.

On September 7, 1906, the second reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Wolcott, Orwell, Ohio; fifty-three being present from Ohio, Kansas and Pennsylvania. It was then decided to make the 1907 reunion a National affair and invite all Wolcotts in the United States to attend.

The first National reunion was held on September 5, 1907, at Riverside Auditorium, Warren, Trunbull County, Ohio, and the main objectives were to collect material for a genealogy and to assist in the restoration of the Old State House in Hartford; in erecting the monument to the early settlers at Windsor; repairing the old Church in England, containing a memorial window bearing the Wolcott coat- of - arms presented by the Wolcott family in America, where the parents of Henry W o l-cott are buried; helping to restore two early family cemeteries in Connecticut and the tomb of Henry Wolcott at Windsor.

Mrs. Doris Wolcott Strong, Vice President of the District of Columbia,was untiring in her efforts for a new Genealogy. Her death occurred on July 29, 1946,as she was preparing to attend the reunion in Springfield, Ohio.

One of the outstanding achievements was the publication of the first Wolcot t Genealogy ever printed, compiled by Dr. Chandler Wolcott in 1912. He secured this material from his own collection, members of the Society, The Wolcott Memorial by Reverend Samuel Wolcott, the large amount of material collected and the followin g sources:

Among some blank pages, at the end of a folio ledger, was the date of 1691,and extended record, with the title: "A Chronologie of the family of the Wolcotts in New England." Although the original account was written by Mr. Josiah Wolcott,several generations had been continued by Governor Roger Wolcott and General Erastus Wolcott.

Valuable papers of Governor Oliver Wolcott, Jr., now deposited with the Connecticut Historical Society, Hartford, among which were ancient deeds of the Wolcott Family, - most of them engrossed on parchment, with original signatures a n d seals attached, one of them bearing the Great Seal of James I., of the Stuart line, England. These documents, in a small trunk, with the initials H. W., in b r a s s nails, were the most valued and transmitted from the elder line of the F a m i l y through the daughters of the third Henry Wolcott, until by some good fortune they came into the possession of the younger Governor Wolcott, through whom they d e-scended to Mr. George Gibbs. He deposited them in their final and natural resting place.

The acknowledgement of their receipt, addressed to Mr. Gibbs by the Librarian, Reverend Doctor Robbins, follows:

Hartford, April 13, 1848.

Dear Sir:

Your venerable small Trunk, with various Relics of ancient days, arrived in safety, and is disposed of as one of our most valuable deposits. You have obtained an ample reward for your persevering researches among the remains of your venerable ancestors. I consider no family of Connecticut as holding a higher reputation for the two centuries we have passed, and as more sure to be held in lasting remembrance, than the Wolcotts. This collection of valuable documents is received with gratitude as a sacred deposit, holden at all times subject to your disposal, and with a sacred regard to the conditions you have prescribed.

Your obliged friend
Thomas Robbins.

This deed-chest, or trunk, is now in the possession of the family of the late Henry Goodrich Wolcott, of the Seventh Generation, residing at Fishkill on the Hudson.

In the compilation of this new Wolcott Genealogy, every effort was made to include as many lines as possible up to the present time; and this material was sent in by the members of the Society and interested friends. I have consulted United States Census schedules, War Records, Pensions, Vital Statistics, Church and Court records and collected data from Libraries in several states. Personal contacts have been made wherever possible.

The records sent by persons whose lines of descent are incomplete are incorporated in the appendix.

The following eulogy was delivered in Boston in 1901 on the character of Gov. Roger Wolcott of Massachusetts, by U. S. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts: "We here have one of the rare instances of a family which starting in America with a man of fortune and good estate always retained its position in the community. In the main line at least it never encountered the vicissitudes which attain nearly all families in the course of two hundred and fifty years. The name never dropped out of sight, but was always borne up by its representatives in the same place in society as that held by the founder. More remarkable still, in almost every generation there was at least one of the lineal male descendants of the first immigrants who rose to the very highest positions in military, political and judicial life. The list of judges, governors, cabinet officers and members of Congress in this pedigree is a long and striking one. From the days of the Somersetshire gentlemen to those of the present generation, which has given a Governor to Massachusetts and a brilliant Senator from Colorado to the United States, the Wolcotts both as soldiers and civilians, have rendered service to their country, eminent as it has been unbroken. War and Statecraft were in the blood of this race, and can we wonder that they have found fitting exemplars in our own time? It is not a name made illustrious by some single ancestor in a dim past and suffered to rust unused by descendants who were content with the possession of a trade-mark. Here is a long roll of honor where the son felt that he would be unworthy of his father if he did not add fresh lustre to the name he bore by service to his state and country, either in the hour of trial or in the pleasant paths of peace."

"The name of the Wolcott family has not been created by one or two great men, but throughout their whole history of over two centuries and a half in this country, each generation has sustained the good name and the high character of the past." Bishop Lawrence of Massachusetts.

THE WOLCOTT ARMS

Shield: Argent a Cheveron between three Chess Rooks ermined.
Crest: A Bull's Head erased argent, armed or, ducally gorged, lined, and ringed, of the last.
Motto: Nullius addictus jurare in verba magistri.

Bearing the Name of "WOLCOTT"

These arms, which are of great antiquity, are identical with the Walcott Arms, and indicate the historical identify of the families.

We have copies of the shield etched on the silver tankard and cup of Gov. Roger Wolcott, a grandson of the first settler, and whose father was born in England, and engraved on the tombstone of Capt. Samuel Wolcott, who was contemporary with Roger; these were not, apparently, copied from each other or from books of heraldry, and they point to a traditional copy which has disappeared.

The chess-rooks were introduced early in the fifteenth century, through a knight, of whom it is recorded in the old Family Pedigree: -

> Playing at ye chesse with Henry ye fifte, kind of Englande, he gave hym ye checke matte with ye rouke, whereupone ye kinge changed his coate of armes which was ye crosse with flower de lures, and gave him ye rouke for a remembrance.
> "It seems these Chess Rooks were at first called Rooks for being in defence of all ye rest: and therefore they stande in ye utter - most corners of ye Chesseboard as Frontier Castles. Kinge William ye Conquerour lost greate Lordships at this playe. And it might well becone a Kinge, for therein are comprised all ye Stratagems of Warr or plotts of Civill State." ("Heralds' Visitation.")

The motto is a line of the Latin poet, Horace, and a literal rendering is, Accustomed to swear in the words of no master. The allusion is to the schoolboy practice of repeating a form of words after the teacher; and the idea, of course, is to rest one's faith on no man's assertion, to think and decide for one's self; in a word, to take nothing on trust.

We give an excellent picture of the arms, drawn by Somerby and engraved by Richardson.

THE GREAT SEAL OF ENGLAND

ROYAL LICENSE OF ALIENATION OF GALDON MANOR

The following document is the one to which special reference has been made in the Preface as having been issued during the Chancellorship of Lord Bacon - attested by his brother. It will be observed that this instrument gives the Somersetshire orthography of the name - Wolcott - which has prevailed in this country; though the spelling of all names, as is well known, was less definite formerly than now. Of the ancient Family letters written in England, the signature, the seal, and the superscription of the same letter present the name in three different forms. The traditional pronunciation of the penultimate vowel is the same as in Wolf.

LICENSE OF ALIENATION

James, by the grace of God, King of England, Scotland, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c.

To All to whom the present letters may come, Greeting: Know ye that we, of our special grace, and for twenty shillings paid unto our collectors, in virtue of our letters patent, have granted and given license, and, for ourselves, our heirs and successors, so far as in us lies, by these presents do grant and give license unto our beloved Robert Mynne, Esquire, that he may give and grant, aliene, or acknowledge by fine or by recovery, in our court, in presence of our justices in bench, or in any other way whatsoever, at the pleasure of the same Robert, two messuages, one mill, three gardens, three orchards, eight acres of meadow, and seventy-four acres of pasture, with the appurtenances, in Tolland and Lydyard Lawrence, in our county of Somerset, which are held of us in capite, so-called, unto our beloved Christopher Wolcott, To have and to hold unto the same Christopher, and his heirs and assigns, for the use and behoof of the same Christopher and his heirs and assigns, forever, of us, our heirs and successors, by all things thence due and of right accustomed.

And unto the same Christopher that he may receive the aforesaid messuages, . . . and all things foregoing, with the appurtenances, from the aforesaid Robert, to hold to himself, and his heirs and assigns, of us, our heirs and successors, by all things aforesaid, as before, forever, according to the tenor of these present letters, we have given and for us, our heirs and successors, we give (as) before special license.

It being our will that neither the aforesaid Robert or his heirs, nor the aforesaid Christopher or his heirs, by reason of the foregoing, be distressed, molested, impeached, vexed in anything, or oppressed, nor that any one of them be distressed, molested, impeached, vexed in anything, or oppressed, by us, our heirs or successors, or by our justices, escheators, sheriffs, bailiffs, or other officers or servants, or any of their heirs or of our successors.

In Witness Whereof we have caused these our letters patent to be made. Witness myself at Westminster, on the first day of April, in the sixteenth year of our reign over England, France and Ireland, and over Scotland the fifty-first.

THE FAMILY IN ENGLAND

The late Mr. H. G. Somerby, an antiquarian and artist, who devoted himself to investigations of this nature, was requested to make inquiries respecting the home of the family in England. As far back as can be definitely traced, Tolland in Somersetshire was their ancestral seat, and was the home of John Wolcott, the father of Henry; though branches of the family lived in the adjacent parishes. The Old Church in Tolland, which forms our frontispiece, engraved by Richardson, from a sketch by Mr. Somerby, is the one in which our ancestors, for generations worshipped. Under date of May 4, 1849, Mr. Somerby wrote to Mr. Frederick H. Wolcott, who was the first of the transatlantic branch, after an interval of two centuries, to make a pilgrimage to the spot.

"Since I have been in London, I have had access to a large mass of manuscripts lately brought to light, called the Subsidy Rolls, in which the names and places of residence of all those persons who were assessed from the time of Henry the Seventh are to be found. Although these papers are in a very mutilated state, a number of them illegible, still I had the good fortune to find the names of your family as far back as 1525, and learn that they then resided in Tolland. William and Thomas Wolcot are the names for the above year. I find that the name is invariably spelt Wol in Somersetshire, while in Shropshire, Lincolnshire, and other places, it is Wal.

"July 6, 1849.- Since I wrote you, I have visited Tolland, and collected all that now remains relating to the Wolcott Family. Unfortunately, the parish register of Tolland has not been preserved prior to 1706.* * *The parish of Lidiard St. Lawrence adjoins that of Tolland; and it seems, by referring to the parish register of Lidiard, that it was not unusual, two centuries ago, - neither is it at the present time, - for persons residing at Tolland to have their children christened at Lidiard. In the case of your Angle-American ancestor, it is fortunate that it was so: for I find in the register, which dates back to 1573, the following entries:

Henry ye sonne of John Wolcott was baptized the
VI. of December, 1578
John, son of Henry Wollcott was bap. 1st Oct. 1607.
Henry Wolcott & Elizabeth Saunders were married
19 January 1606.

"* * * The parish church of Tolland is quite romantically situated, and retains its ancient characteristics. I made two drawings of it from various points, which I trust you will recognize. There are but two monuments in the church - yard, side by side. The most ancient contains no inscription; it is completely obliterated, in consequence of the stone being of so perishable a nature. There is no doubt, however, that it belongs to the Wolcotts, as it stands so near to the one with the following inscription:

The body of John Wolcot.
Here also lieth the Bodie of Johne Woolcot
mother of the saide John Wolcot who deceased
the 5th of Aprill 1637

"There are no other gravestones, either at Lidiard St. Lawrence or at Tolland, ancient or modern, bearing the name of Wolcott.

"I next visited the old mill which belonged to the family at least three hundred years ago. The house connected with the mill is the same which was standing then, and is a curious specimen of ancient architecture, both internally and externally. The mill is also the original one,with a modern addition to one end. The house is now occupied by a laborer, and is in rather a dilapidated condition. I also made a sketch of the house and mill.

"I suppose you recollect enough of Tolland to know that it is one of the most secluded, quiet, and picturesque villages in England. The inhabitants appear to be very comfortable and happy; and I saw no cases of suffering among them.Having collected all that could be found at Tolland,my next step was to consult wills."

Of these he gives copies of a dozen,part of which he found on record at Taunton,and part at Wells,and which show clearly that the earlier generations of the stanch Protestants who emigrated to America were devoted Papists. We give briefs of wills of two John Wolcotts of Tolland, the latter the father of Henry Wolcott, of Windsor, and the former, apparently, his grandfather.

The will of John Woolcott, of Tolland,dated Feb. 9, 1571,and proved April 11,1572 bequeaths "my soule to Almightie god my creat^{r} and to o^{r} Lord Jeses Christ my redeemer and my bodie to Xtian buriall," with bequests "to y^{e} cathedrall churche of Welles," "to John my sonne," "to Alice my daughter," "to Mary my daughter," "to John Howe," "to Agnes Meyn," and "unto Agnes my wief," - appointing as overseers "Henry Woolcot and Roger Woolcot my brothers."

The will of John Wolcot the elder,of Tolland,dated Nov. 10, 1623,proved Jan. 16, ____, bequeaths "my soule into the hands of god my saviour and redeemer and my body to Christian burial," with bequests,"unto John Wolcott my son John's eldest sonne" "unto Agnes Wolcott the daughter of John", "unto every of the nowe children of Henry Wolcott my sonne", "unto Mary Wolcott the daughter of my sonne John", "unto Symon Wolcott my kinsman", "unto Giles More my servant" and "unto Richard Locke , Alexander Thatloke, John Sealy and Alexander Engrane;" makes John Wolcott executor; witnessed by Christopher Wolcott and Henry Woollcott, his two eldest sons- being in the handwriting of the former.

The circumstances of our ancestor are known to have been easy,and apparently affluent. The venerable historian of Connecticut(Trumbull),whose testimony appears in its place, and who lived a century nearer those days than ourselves,makes special mention of his valuable English estate. His deed to his eldest son, which we give in course, conveys the Galdon Manor, - the principal mansion in Tolland, - "with meadows, pastures, mills, tenements, and hereditaments thereunto belonging." This was the estate which came into his possession after his removal to America , by the death, without will, of his elder brother,Christopher; and appears to have been wholly distinct from the estate which, according to later history, he owned and disposed of at the time of his emigration. The holders of landed estates in England were in that day persons of social rank,as in a large degree they still are.

The personal consideration with which Henry Wolcott was regarded in the Colony from the outset is evidence that he was an English gentleman of acknowledged ability, intelligence, and excellence. But gratifying as this may be,our principal object in referring to his worldly circumstances and social standing is to exhibit more fully the resolute and self-sacrificing spirit with which he turned his face towards the New World, - confirming the tradition and conviction of his descendants that they have sprung from a worthy sire.

The following description of Tolland is taken from Collinson's "History and Antiquities of Somerset":

"It is situated at the northwest angle of the hundred toward that of Williston-Freemanors, and a mile southward from the turnpike road leading from Taunton to Dunster. It stands in a rich, woody, and well-watered vale, surrounded with hills, highly cultivated. Eastward from the church is a fine hanging wood, which clothes the steep slope of a pretty high hill, and has a pleasing appearance. The whole parish is rented at about five hundred pounds per annum, and consists of only twelve houses, four of which are in the hamlet of East Tolland. The lands are mostly arable, the general crops wheat, barley, pease, and some flax. A spring rising at North Combe, in the parish of Brompton Ralph, runs through and turns a grist-mill in the parish, whence it passes through Lidiard St. Lawrence, and empties itself into the Tone. The cross-roads here are very deep, narrow, precipitous, and overhung with hedges. Garldon, or Garmildon, an ancient manor in Tolland, belonged, 7 Eliz., to Francis Southwell, Esq. The church is dedicated to St. John the Baptist, and is a small building, consisting of a nave, chancel, and a small aisle on the north side. At the west end is a clumsy, embattled tower, thirty feet high, containing three small bells. In the churchyard are the remains of an old stone cross."

GALDON MANOR AT THE PRESENT TIME

We consider ourselves singularly fortunate in being able to present accounts given by descendants who have visited the ancestral home in recent years. In the summer of 1900 Rev. Peter Clark Wolcott, D.D., of Highland Park, Ill., visited at Galdon Manor. He writes:

"From the famous old town of Taunton it is a railway journey of a dozen miles to Wivilscome and here I hired a conveyance to take me the four miles over the hills to Tolland, a scattered hamlet of about one hundred inhabitants, as quiet and peaceful today as when Henry Wolcott left it nearly three hundred years ago. Galdon is about a mile away from the village and is reached by a road which winds between high banks with fields on either side. It is set in a hollow of the hills and is not seen until one has come to it. It is not a splendid mansion such as I had pictured in my mind but a low gray stone house of two stories surrounded by ancient farm buildings. There is no lawn or garden about it today whatever there may have been in the past. The tenant is a churlish farmer who refuses to permit visitors to enter so I had to content myself with a survey of the exterior.

There is one fine though not large room in the house, a hall with an ornamented plaster ceiling and a fine chimney piece with the Turberville arms and the initials I. T. According to existing records Galdon belonged to Francis Southwell in 1564. "The parcel of the Manor of Galdon" referred to in John Wolcott's will, proved in 1589, probably refers not to the manor house but to the mill and mill house on Tolland water half a mile away, it was here that Henry Wolcott lived until Galdon house was conveyed to him by James I in 1619. This mill house, which I visited, is without special features of interest except for the fact that it was for a considerable time the dwelling of our ancestors. It is still occupied, and the old mill beside it until lately ground the corn of the neighborhood.

The ancient church of St. John the Baptist stands apart in its churchyard, in which are the two Wolcott tombs standing side by side. The inscription upon one is obliterated by time, upon the other may still be read, "the bodie of John Wolcot 21 Mar. 1618. Here also lieth the bodie of Johne Woolcot mother of said John Wolcot who died also the Vth of April, 1637."

The church which is in constant use and kept in good repair, is a small one seating 109 persons. The parish register does not contain any records previous to the year 1700, the older books having been destroyed, but there are the records of the baptisms, marriages and burials of Wolcotts during the eighteenth century. In the adjoining parish of Lydiard St. Lawrence I found an older register which records the baptism of Henry Wolcott, December 6, 1578, and of John Wolcott, his son, October 1, 1607, also the marriage of Henry Wolcott, the emigrant, and wife Elizabeth Saunders, 21 March, 1606. The last of our name who lived in the neighborhood emigrated to Australia about forty years ago and none are living there now but the name is remembered as that of one of the old families in the parish.

The country round about is fertile and shows its long subjection to the uses of husbandry. It has that human aspect only seen in regions tilled from immemorial antiquity. The roads which are worn deep between high banks by centuries of usage are bordered by thick hedges, and the whole district seems untouched by the spirit of modern progress and lies steeped in the drowsy peace of medieval England."

Later it was visited by Schuyler B. Jackson, Esq., of Newark, N. J., who gives the following account:

"Regarding 'Galdon Manor' would say that I visited this most interesting home of Henry Wolcott during the summer of 1906. It is located in the parish of Tolland, Somersetshire, England; the house is solidly constructed of gray stone and is located on a small piece of level ground halfway down the hill, at the bottom of which is a stream called 'Tolland Water,' and behind it, in an orchard is a fish pond, with an artificial island in it, and a strong pondhead in good masonry, from which the overflow escapes by a stream into the 'Tolland Water.'"

The house appears partly of Gothic and partly of Norman architecture. The front entrance, which is on the west side, is by an old fashioned lintel porch, a story over it; gabled and slated roof with two wings extending from the center of it. I should estimate the front of the house to be about 60 feet with large wings and extensions, formed somewhat as a quadrangle with a large stone wall on the west side. It is all of massive masonry and could be made a stronghold for defense. It is not kept up as it undoubtedly was of yore and the grounds instead of being like a park are now like those of a farm.

Mr. M. E. Chisholm Batten, M. A. has written a very interesting account of Galdon Manor which was published by the Somersetshire Archaelogical and Natural History Society of Taunton, England. It confirmed all that we had seen and all that Mr. H. G. Somerby, the antiquarian and artist, had furnished for the Wolcott Memorial. The account given by members of the family who visited 'Galdon' prior to my visit also tallies with Mr. Somerby's description. Mr. Batten says, "the entrance opens into a passage running through to the garden and orchard behind; on the right is the hall, a very curious apartment. It has a ceiling of panelled plaster with a very magnificent pendant, having eight ornamental flutings in the center; it is more than thirty feet long and fifteen feet wide and has a foot deep cornice all around the room, except over the fire place and over the carved partition, which cornice is in plaster, with allegorical and emblematical figures and mottos. Beginning with the southwestern corner we have in the midst of great ornamentation, The Temptation of Adam and Eve - then an angel holding a shield with a dish with food in it, and a pair of spectacles above, having underneath a motto Mihi spreta voluptas. Then follow a great number of figures and mottos, generally in Latin - such as Virgin and Child. The Roses of York and Lancaster, Herodias's Daughter bearing John the Baptist's Head to Herod, with the decapitated body in the background, David playing his Harp, and many other bas-reliefs. There are a great many carvings of crests and coats of arms, and on the boldly cut stone string molding of the lintel over the fireplace is 'Focus perennis esto'." Mr. Batten further says: "To the left of the fireplace, between it and the squared lead e d and stone mullioned window is the oak partition pannelled and carved, surmounted by a modern plaster partition between it and the ceiling, and over the door is carved the initials I. T. These are considered to be the initials of James Turberville, Bishop of Exeter, whose coat of arms as well as those of other members of his family and ancestors are to be found in many of the carvings." It is all a very interesting story and the annals prove that the house dates far back of Edward IV, was held as a Manor by Taunton Priory and surrendered to Henry VIII on the 12th of February, 1539, and by the King was granted to William Standish.

There seems to be no doubt but that the room adjoining the Hall was used orignally by Bishop Turberville as a chapel. This was the legend carried down by the present proprietor's family who have been the owners for more than a century. I have found that all the statements of the Wolcott Memorial were actually as stated, through my personal observation, and among other matters the quotation from Collinson's 'History and Antiquities of Somerset' like Mr. Somerby's gives a most vivid description of the location of the 'Galdon Manor' and the little church of St. John the Baptist where the father of Henry Wolcott is buried; also describing "the rich, woody, and well watered vales surrounded with hills and highly cultivated."

It is true that the house would not be considered a splendid mansion but it is large and substantial, has probably lasted about six hundred years and if taken ordinary care will last for an indefinite period. It is said that only three of the people on the Mayflower left any trace of an ancestral home in England. And it is remarkable how few of those coming from the old country left any record by which one can trace their ancestry back to an "ancestral home." It seems a remarkable house for an "English gentleman" so far superior to the ordinary English house or cottage of the time.

Under date of March, 1912, Mr. Charles A. Hoppin an American genealogist resident in London writes:

"The country is now called, as of yore, 'Galdon.' There is scarcely an acre of level ground within the ancient limits of Galdon Manor, or in the entire town of Tolland itself, for that matter. Round steep hills are everywhere - but they are not high, perhaps at the highest 200 to 400 feet above the sea.

Galdon was more important in the old times, before the large towns developed when people resided more on the land, than it has been for the past century. No Wolcott descendant, however, will be displeased by visiting Tolland; and Gal d on really possesses ancient features that are unusual in large farm-houses of its period. Few trees are to be seen on Galdon Manor; every acre is under cultivation; hedges mark all boundaries. The road that we are traversing is seldom straight for more than a few yards and very soon drops down into a little gully, a half-mile this side of Galdon, where a brook is crossed and the tiny old church of stone, with a tower almost as wide as the nave, stands at the left in a field. Two or three cottages are passed in the next half-mile of uphill road. Then a lane led at right angles down to a farmhouse hid behind trees and a barn. The barn upon the right, built of stone, is very old and shelters the livestock. The visitor is decidedly disappointed at the general appearance of things; but the appearance may not have been ever thus, and probably was not in the old days when the occupants of the manor-house were the owners.

Galdon House is regarded by the antiquarians of Somerset as one of the interesting specimens remaining of a good residence of an independent citizen in feudal times. Portions of the house are certainly as old as 1450, and probably older. The walls as they now appear must date back to about that period.

Wolcotts who visit Galdon will find the effort well repaid if they judge everything from the standpoint of its importance in the days of antiquity."

The photograph of Galdon Manor which forms the frontispiece of this volume was also sent by Mr. Hoppin, March, 1912.

The following table tracing the family back to the eleventh century in Wales is found in a footnote to Hollister's History of Connecticut, Volume 1, page 189.

Through the researches of Mr. Somerby, of Boston, in the herald's office among the subsidy rolls, wills, and parish records of England, the genealogy of Henry Wolcott, Esquire, (the emigrant) has been traced, through fifteen generations, back to Sir John Wolcott, knight, as follows:
1. Jeran Wolcott (son of Sir John) of Wolcott, who married Anna, daughter of John Mynde, of Shropshire. 2. Roger Wolcott, Knight, of Wolcott, Shropshire, England, who married Edith, daughter of Sir William Donnes, knight. 3. Phillip Wolcott, of Wolcott, knight, who married Julian, daughter of John Herle. 4. John Wolcott, knight, of Wolcott, Shropshire, England, who married Alice, daughter of David Lloyd, Esq. 5. Sir John Wolcott, of Wolcott, knight, A.D. 1382. 6. Thomas Wolcott, of Wolcott. 7. John Wolcott, of Wolcott. 8. DEED OF GALDON MANOR
By Robert Mynne to Christopher Wolcott

We give below, in legible English, a copy of the above mentioned deed, which is in the English of Chaucer's day, made specially obscure by the use of abbreviated and antiquated legal phrases. For this we are indebted to the patient research of Mr. Roger Wolcott, of Boston, later Governor of Massachusetts.

THIS INDENTURE made the twentyth daye of June in the yeares of the Raigne mottos. Beginning with the southwestern corner we have in the midst of great ornamentation, The Temptation of Adam and Eve - then an angel holding a shield with a dish with food in it, and a pair of spectacles above, having underneath a motto Mihi spreta voluptas. Then follow a great number of figures and mottos, generally in Latin - such as Virgin and Child. The Roses of York and Lancaster, Herodias's Daughter bearing John the Baptist's Head to Herod, with the decapitated body in the background, David playing his Harp, and many other bas-reliefs. There are a great many carvings of crests and coats of arms, and on the boldly cut stone string molding of the lintel over the fireplace is 'Focus perennis esto'." Mr. Batten further says: "To the left of the fireplace, between it and the squared lead e d and stone mullioned window is the oak partition pannelled and carved, surmounted by a modern plaster partition between it and the ceiling, and over the door is carved the initials I. T. These are considered to be the initials of James Turberville, Bishop of Exeter, whose coat of arms as well as those of other members of his family and ancestors are to be found in many of the carvings." It is all a very interesting story and the annals prove that the house dates far back of Edward IV, was held as a Manor by Taunton Priory and surrendered to Henry VIII on the 12th of February, 1539, and by the King was granted to William Standish.

There seems to be no doubt but that the room adjoining the Hall was used orignally by Bishop Turberville as a chapel. This was the legend carried down by the present proprietor's family who have been the owners for more than a century. I have found that all the statements of the Wolcott Memorial were actually as stated, through my personal observation, and among other matters the quotation from Collinson's 'History and Antiquities of Somerset' like Mr. Somerby's gives a most vivid description of the location of the 'Galdon Manor' and the little church of St. John the Baptist where the father of Henry Wolcott is buried; also describing "the rich, woody, and well watered vales surrounded with hills and highly cultivated."

It is true that the house would not be considered a splendid mansion but it is large and substantial, has probably lasted about six hundred years and if taken ordinary care will last for an indefinite period. It is said that only three of the people on the Mayflower left any trace of an ancestral home in England. And it is remarkable how few of those coming from the old country left any record by which one can trace their ancestry back to an "ancestral home." It seems a remarkable house for an "English gentleman" so far superior to the ordinary English house or cottage of the time.

Under date of March, 1912, Mr. Charles A. Hoppin an American genealogist resident in London writes:

"The country is now called, as of yore, 'Galdon.' There is scarcely an acre of level ground within the ancient limits of Galdon Manor, or in the entire town of Tolland itself, for that matter. Round steep hills are everywhere - but they are not high, perhaps at the highest 200 to 400 feet above the sea.

Galdon was more important in the old times, before the large towns developed when people resided more on the land, than it has been for the past century. No Wolcott descendant, however, will be displeased by visiting Tolland; and Galdon really possesses ancient features that are unusual in large farm-houses of its period. Few trees are to be seen on Galdon Manor; every acre is under cultivation; hedges mark all boundaries. The road that we are traversing is seldom straight for

Robert Howard Not. Pub^{l} Colonae praedict

The old "Famely Chronologie, 1691," has this entry respecting the parents, Henry and Elizabeth Wolcott:

"This happie pair were married About ye year 1606. He came to New England about the year 1626, and in the year 1630 brought over his family, to aboid the persecution of those times against dissenters."

This was during the reign of King Charles I., which its oppressiveness was felt, but several years before the roused spirit of the people, under the good guidance of Oliver Cromwell, swept away his authority and his tyranny together.

"Every corner of the nation was subjected to a constant and minute inspection. Every little congregation of separatists was tracked out and broken up. Even the devotions of private families could not escape the vigilance of spies. And the tribunals afforded no protection to the subjects against the civil and ecclesiastical tyranny of that period." "This was the conjuncture at which the liberties of England were in the greatest peril. The opponents of the government began to despair of the destiny of their country; and many looked to the American wildreness a s the only asylum in which they could enjoy civil and spiritual freedom. There a few resolute Puritans, who, in the cause of their religion, feared neither the rage of the ocean nor the hardships of uncivilized life; neither the fangs of savage beasts nor the tomahawks of more savage men, - built, amidst the primeval forest, villages which are now great and opulent cities, but which have, through every change, retained some trace of the character derived from their founders. The government regarded these infant colonies with aversion, and attempted violently to stop the stream of emigration, but could not prevent the population of New England from being largely recruited by stout-hearted and God-fearing men from every part of old England."[1]

[1] Macaulay, Hist. Eng., I. 69, 71.

It was at this juncture that Henry Wolcott left England; and no one will question his title to the character of "a resolute Puritan, - a stout-hearted and God-fearing man." He was not an obscure adventurer, but held a fair position among the gentry in England, possessing an estate which yielded him a fair income, and his property was freely devoted to the service of the expedition which he accompanied. He had now passed his fifty-second year, and his children were at an age when they most needed such advantages in the way of education, limited though they were, as they could find only in their native land. The parents decided, as the least trying of the courses open to them (though they must have taken the resolution with a heavy heart), to leave behind them their two daughters and their youngest son, then five years of age, until a settlement had been effected in America. Taking three sons (Henry, George and Christopher), they went forth, at this stage of life, to grapple with the hardships of a new settlement in an unexplored country, - retiring forever from their pleasant seat, from the place of their fathers' sepulchres and the birthplace of all their children (from some of whom in their tender years they were to be separated for an uncertain period), and bravely encountering the unknown future which awaited them and theirs on the deep and in the desert. They have their reward, - and they desired none other on earth, - a name and a place among those excellent companies, of whom the world was not worthy, who came out from the mother country to this, at that eventful period, on their high mission of civilization and Christianity.

The company of which they were members consisted of one hundred and forty persons; and the historian of Connecticut makes the following mention of them:

"In one of the first ships which arrived this year came over the Rev. Mr. John Warham,[1] Mr. John Maverick,[2] Mr. Rossiter, Mr. Ludlow, Mr. Henry Wolcott, and others of Mr. Warham's church and congregation, who first settled the town of Windsor, in Connecticut. Mr. Rossiter and Mr. Ludlow, were magistrates. Mr. Wolcott had a fine estate, and was a man of superior abilities. This was an honorable company. Mr. Warham had been a famous minister in Exeter, the capital of the county of Devonshire. The people who came with him were from the three counties of Devonshire, Dorsetshire, and Somersetshire."[3] They were a very godly and religious people, and many of them persons of figure and note, being dignified with the title of Mr., which few in those days were."[4]

[1]John Warham came from Exeter, England (where he had been a prominent minister), as teacher of Dorchester Church, Mr. Maverick being pastor. He removed to Connecticut in September following the removal of his church. In memory of Rev. John Warham he was installed pastor of this church at its inauguration in Plymouth, England, in 1630; they arrived in this country the 30th of May the same year, and remained at Dorchester, Mass., five years when they removed to this town. Here Mr. Warham continued his pastoral labours to his flock until April 1, 1670, when he slept in the Lord. He was among the most eminent of New England's early divines. Erected by his church, 1842. Epitaph, Windsor Churchyard.

[2]John Maverick, a minister of the Established Church, resided about 40 miles from Exeter, England; he is the first mentioned at the time of the assemblage in the New Hospital, Plymouth, England, to organize a church. Cotton Mather includes him in the "First Classis" of ministers, viz., those who "were in the actual exercise of their ministry when they left England." He was "somewhat advanced in years" at that period. He took the freeman's oath, May 18, 1631. A curious account of his drying some gunpowder, in a pan, over the fire, in the Dorchester meeting house, which was used as a magazine also, and the wonderful escape of Maverick in the consequent explosion of a "small barrel", are described in Winthrop's Journal, I., *72. Mr. Maverick expected to remove to Connecticut, but died Feb. 3, 1637, aged "about sixty," - "A goodly man, a beloved pastor, a safe and truthful guide."

They sailed from Plymouth, in England, on the 20th of March 1630, in the ship Mary and John, of four hundred tons burden, Captain Squeb, master. Before their embarkation, after their passage had been engaged, they were allowed the privilege of organizing themselves into an independent church. This is now the First Church in Windsor, - the oldest in the State of Connecticut. The Barnstable and Plymouth churches, in Massachusetts, had been organized in the same way; and these three, so far as we know, are the only New England churches which had a trans-atlantic origin.

They arrived at Nantasket on the Lord's Day, May 30th, 1630, after a voyage of two months and ten days, and landed the next day. A brief account of the expedition from one of their own number, Captain Roger Clap, one of the first settlers of Dorchester, who was then a young man, is fortunately extant, and we quote a few paragraphs from it.

"There came godly families in that ship. We were of passengers many in number (besides seamen) of good rank. These godly people resolved to live together; and, therefore, as they had made choice of those two reverend servants of God, Mr. John Warham and Mr. John Maverick, to be their ministers, so they kept a solemn day of fasting in the New Hospital in Plymouth, in England, spending it in preaching and praying, when that worthy man of God, Mr. John White, of Dorchester, in Dorset, was present, and preached unto us the word of God in the fore part of the day; and, in the latter part of the day, as the people did solemnly make choice of and call those godly ministers to be their officers, so also the Reverend Mr. Warham and Mr. Maverick did accept thereof, and expressed the same. So we came by the good hand of the Lord, through the deeps comfortably; having preaching or expounding of the word of God every day, for ten weeks together, by our ministers."[1]

"When we came to Nantasket, Captain Squeb, who was captain of that great ship of four hundred tons, would not bring us into Charles River, as he was bound to do, but put us ashore and our goods on Nantasket Point, and left us to shift for ourselves, in a forlorn place in this wilderness. But, as it pleased God, we got a boat of some old planters, and laded her with goods; and some able men, well-armed, went in her unto Charlestown, where we found some wigwams and one house; and in the house there was a man which had a boiled bass, but no bread that we see. But we did eat of his bass, and then went up Charles River, until the river grew narrow and shallow; and there we landed our goods, with much labor and toil, the bank being steep; and, night coming on, we were informed that there were hard by us three hundred Indians. One Englishman, that could speak the Indian language (an old planter), went to them, and advised them not to come near us in the night, and they hearkened to his counsels, and came not. I myself was one of the sentinels that first night. In the morning, some of the Indians came and stood at a distance off, looking at us, but came not near us. But, when they had been a while in view, some of them came and held out a great bass toward us; so we sent a man with a biscuit, and changed the cake for the bass. Afterwards they supplied us with bass, exchanging a bass for a biscuit cake, and were very friendly unto us.[2]

"We had not been there many days (although, by our diligence, we had got up a kind of shelter to save our goods in), but we had order to come away from that place which was about Watertown, unto a place called Mattapan, now Dorchester, because of a neck of land fit to keep cattle on. So we removed and came to Mattapan. Indians there also were kind unto us.[1]

"In our beginning, many were in great straits for want of provisions for themselves and their little ones. Oh! the hunger that many suffered, and saw no hope in an eye of reason to be supplied, only by clams and mussels and fish. We did quickly build boats, and some went a-fishing. But bread was with many a very scarce thing, and flesh of all kinds as scarce. And in our days, in our straits, though I cannot say God sent a raven to feed us, as he did the prophet Elijah, yet this I can say, to the praise of God's glory, that he sent not only poor ravenous Indians, which came with their bags of corn on their backs to trade with us (which was a good supply unto many), but also sent ships from Holland and from Ireland with provisions and Indian corn from Virginia to supply the wants of his dear servants in this wilderness, both for food and raiment.[2]

"In those days. God did cause his people to trust in him, and to be contented with mean things. It was not accounted a strange thing in those days to drink water, and to eat samp or hominy without butter or milk. Indeed, it would have been a strange thing to see a piece of roast beef, mutton, or veal, though it was not long before there was roast goat. After the first winter, we were healthy though some of us had no great store of corn. The Indians did sometimes bring corn, and truck with us for clothing and knives; and once I had a peck of corn, or thereabouts, for a little puppy dog. Frost-fish, mussels, and clams were a relief to many."[3]

[1] They began a settlement about the middle of June. They named the place Dorchester, because several of the settlers came from Dorchester, England, and also in honor of Rev. John White, rector of Trinity Church in that town, who took a warm interest in the settlement, and aided the colonists, - earning the title of "the great patron of New England emigration." The name was sanctioned by the Court of Assistants, Sept. 7, 1630, and the town was then regularly incorporated.

[2] In July, 1633, they were reinforced by the arrival of a ship with about eighty passengers and twelve kine, which set down at Dorchester. Winthrop's Journal.

The name of Henry Wolcott appears in the first list of "ffreemen" made in Boston, Oct. 19, 1630. This was the day on which the first General Court in Massachusetts was held, consisting not of representatives, but of individual freemen. Under the ancient charter of the Colony, none were recognized as members of the body politic, except such as were admitted by the General Court, and took the oath of allegiance to the colonial government.

"May 13, 1664. There is liberty granted to Mr. Israell Stoughton and Mr. Wulcotte to look out ffermes for themselves with promise to accomidate them."[1]

In three or four years after their settlement, the Dorchester Company had their attention directed to the unoccupied and fertile lands in the Connecticut Valley.

"In September of this year (1633), Mr. John Oldham with three others travelled through the wilderness to Connecticut to view the country and trade with the Indians.[2] They appear to have had information from the Dutch of New York of a valuable tract of land lying upon that river. They were hospitably received by the Indians, and brought back such flattering accounts of the fertility and products of the soil as, in 1635, induced a large number of the people to emigrate there."

"Actuated by the noblest spirit of the times, these men had determined to remove as early as the year 1634; and they applied to the General Court of Massachusetts for permission to go in quest of new adventures in a better land. But, owing to a division in that body with regard to the propriety of the measure, they did not now obtain their desires. Yet they could not be satisfied till they had accomplished their intention, and had obtained leave of the Court. For it was the general idea that the inhabitants were all bound to one another by the oath of a freeman, as well as the original compact, so as not to be at liberty to separate without the consent of the whole."

"A number of Mr. Warham's people came this summer (1635) into Commecticut, and made preparation to bring their families, and make a permanent settlement on the river.[3] These pioneers encountered great privations, and were mostly compelled by

[2] Oldham arrived in 1623, and was a troubler of the Plymouth Church; he was restless and adventurous, and was murdered by the Indians, with whom he was trading at Block Island in 1636, which led to the Pequot War.

[3] "The removal of the Dorchester people to Windsor is said to have been disagreeable to their ministers; but as their whole church and most of their congregation determined upon going, they at length consented to accompany them. However, Mr Maverick died in the spring (Feb. 3, 1636), before the preparations were made for his removal. Mr. Warham went in September, but did not judge it expedient to remove his family until better accommodations could be made for their reception."

the severity of the winter and the prospect of famine to return to Massachusetts. The people who kept their stations on the river suffered in an extreme degree. After all the help they were able to obtain by hunting and from the Indians, they were obliged to subsist on acorns, malt, and grain. A great number of cattle perished. The Dorchester or Windsor people lost in this single article about £200 sterling. Their other losses were considerable."

"Several of the principal gentlemen interested in the settlement of Connecticut - Mr. John Haynes, who at this time was Governor of Massachusetts, Mr. Henry Wolcott, Mr. Wells, the ministers of the churches, and others - had not yet moved into the Colony.[1] As soon as the spring advanced and the travelling would admit, the hardy men began to return from the Massachusetts to their habitations on the river. No sooner were buds, leaves, and grass so grown that cattle could live in the woods, and obstructions removed from the river, so that vessels could go up with provisions and furniture, than the people began to return in large companies to Connecticut. Many who had not removed the last year, prepared with all convenient despatch for a journey to the new settlement on the river."[2]

The following succinct and satisfactory account of this emigration is taken from a manuscript historical discourse by the Rev. Dr. McClure, of South Windsor. This discourse is entitled "A Century Thanksgiving Sermon." Text. Deut. IV. 37, 38. Preached in East Windsor, Dec. 24, 1795.

At the time they were about to remove, the Dutch, who had possessed themselves of New Netherlands (New York), extended their claim to the Connecticut River. They had made a small settlement a few miles below, in Hartford Meadow, for the purpose of trade with the Indians. From the Dutch, the people of Plymouth had heard of a rich country of land in this quarter, and some adventurers from Plymouth had come, two or three years before, and built trading-houses in Windsor, near the mouth of the Little River.

The towns of Windsor, Hartford, and Wethersfield were selected by people from Dorchester, Newtown (now Cambridge), and Watertown. The Dutch and the people from Plymouth (who had begun to engross the Indian fur-trade) were unwilling to admit them into their neighborhood. The Plymouth people were satisfied with compensation and the Indians were paid what they demanded for the land. The title of the Dutch was too slender to support a claim.

Having thus prepared the way for their peaceable settlement, the three companies arrived in the summer of 1635.[3] When we consider the difficulties and dangers they had to surmount, we may well admire their pious zeal and fortitude. Most of them came through the woods by land, and the remainder by water. It was a lonely, fatiguing, and dangerous march. About one hundred men, women, and children took a departure from the three towns, encumbered with baggage and cattle, to travel in an unexplored country. They shaped their course by a compass. They had to pick their way through forests, over and around swamps and mountains, and to construct rafts to help them over the streams. They saw here and there a solitary foot-path leading to the Indian villages. The Nipnit or inland Indians, whose country they went through, were numerous, and might have taken advantage of their weak and defence - less condition to cut them off. But the God of Israel, who conducted the chosen tribes through the desert of Arabia, and caused the fear of the people of God to fall upon their enemies, in like manner restrained the savages of t h e wilderness from molesting this worthy company. They were fourteen days performing this t e- dious journey. Their hearts did not sink under the pressure of sufferings. Some of them had lived delicately in their native country, but they cheerfully encoun - tered the hardships of the way. They fed upon the milk of their cattle; and, in their cloaks and blankets, they slept upon the ground, amid the mighty howlings of beasts of prey. They were supported by the goodness of the cause for which they had followed God into the widlerness; his providence had pointed out to them the path of duty; and they devoutly prayed and sung Psalms as they marched along, and the woods for the first time resounded with sacred hallelujahs. They at length came in sight of this river, the object of their ardent expectation, - probably near the mouth of the Scantic River in this town, - and proceeded to form their settlements with a view to their future enlargement. The next year, another com- pany came by the same route, from the same towns in Massachusetts, and joined them.

The Indians upon the river and in its vicinity were then numerous, consisting principally of three powerful Sachemdoms. The seat of one was near t h e mouth of the Podunk River in the south border of this town; the seat of another was about twenty miles down the river at Middletown; and that of the other on Little River at Farmington.

Some of the first settlers of these towns were gentlemen of opulence, educa- tion, and worth. The right of settling here they purchased from the Plymouth Com- pany, in England, who held this country by grant from the Crown. But they did not esteem their title valid until they had purchased their land of the Indians, whom they looked upon as the only rightful proprietors. The Assembly of the infant col- ony in the Massachusetts gave to the people of these three towns, on their removal, authority to form themselves into a political body, although they were beyond their jurisdiction. They soon proceeded to form a system of laws, similar to those of Massachusetts, except that they did not make church-membership a necessary quali- fication for civil office.

In the year 1637 the first General Assembly was held in Connecticut. Mr. Henry Wolcott had been elected a member of the committee, twelve in number, which consti- tuted the Lower House, or popular branch of that body; and thus he participated in the first legislative proceedings of both Colonies. In 1640, his name stands first in the list of inhabitants in Windsor. In 1643, he was elected a member of the house of Magistrates, as the Upper House, the present Senate, was then styled, con- sisting of six or eight members; and he was annually re-elected during life. "He was, probably, after the pastor, the most distinguished man in "Windsor."[1] By the decease of his elder brother without issue he had become proprietor of the family estates, including the manor-house and the mill already referred to; and in the year 1640 he appears to have visited England. His younger children, Anna, Mary, and Simon, had probably joined the family in America before this date; we can only as- certain that they came between the years 1631 and 1641.

There are in the collection of family manuscripts a number of letters s e n t from England during the first thirty years of their settlement here. Letters of this date, handed down through eight generations, are so rare as to be a curiosity, and a somewhat liberal insertion of them is warranted. Those which we here give were addressed to the elder Henry.

the 15th of Aprill 1639:

Loving and deare brother, my trew love and best respects unto yourselfe my sister in Lawe and all my Cuzens remembred wishing allwayes your health andprosperitie in the Lorde and trusting in God you are in good health as we all weare at the writting hearof the Lords name be prayesd for it.

Broather soe it is that it hath pleased the Lord to take to his mersie the soull of our deare brother Christopher Wollcott of Wellington who desesed the 25th of March 1639: in the morninge he died vntestat and thareby as I vnderstand that his Land faleth vnto yourself or your sonne which maketh me to writt vnto you to know your minde what you will have done in it I desire your answer as soone as maye be for I am informed that his land falleth vnto you and all his prsonall estatt falleth vnto his wiffe and for my partt I shall have nothinge yeat you knowe deare brother that I have supported him by his breeding, and his being in Fraunce and by byeing him lande by copie into Tolland Mill Living, and into John * * * Living which never cost him a pennie and nowe in requitall of it I shall not have a pennie which greveth the verie harte of me that it should soe fall out, for he did promise our father in his death bed that my sonne John Wolcott should be his heare vnto Tolland Mill and allso promised it before manie others, yeat neverthelese I will put my trust in the Lord for he hath been my helper and my shore defense hithervnto and soe he shall be vnto the end, for thes thingsare transitorie and put vpon me for triall of my patience but the Lord knoweth whome are his tharfore vnto him be all honore and prayse for ever and ever.

Broather I reseaved your leter whearin you wrott of dangers that you have had in your Countrie whearin god hath prserved you and soe he will all them that truly trust in him, you wrott to vnderstand of the course of our Cuntrie it was never by my time soe dangerouse as now it is for it is proclaymed open warrs betwixt England and Scottland, and our most gracious King Charles is gone into Scottland with 30 or 40 thousand of the traynors as the report doeth goe ar gon with him and thare are 40 or 50 of a band ar prickt vpon everie Captines boocke and doe stand at an howers warning vpon payn of death thare be them prickt whous livings is worth 200L a yeare and vpward and thare be suplyes apoynted to fill vp the Captins boock agayn as sowne as they ar gone it is much feared that we have manie dangerouse enimies but if god be with vs we feare not whoe is agaynst us. you wrott vnto me to send you a laboring man or to and I have spoken vnto divers to goe and them that be good wokmen and can get theyer living heare ar fearfull to go to seae for feare they shall not live to com to your land, but wear it not for the danger of the seas you mought have inough.

Broather my wife and chilldren desireth to be remembred vnto your wife and chilldren and we doe dayelye praye for your prosperitie besiching the Allmighti god to blese vs all and send vs his kingdom of grase and the kingdom of glorie in heaven through Jesus Christ our only saviour and redemer, Amen.

Brother I praye you to return me your answer conserning the land what shall be dune in it wheather I shall mak an enter vpon it in your behalfe vntill you can com or send over, for it is howses much of it and must be repayred or otherwise it will goe in decaye.

Broather you wrott conserning the teaching of the word, it is not soe much taught as it was when you lyved heare for thar is no lectuarie vsed in no place and but on sermon vpon the sabath day, and in manie places on sermon in a m o n th and skarse that whearfore manie doe feare that the Lord hath ordayned a punishment for it, soe I end and rest your Loving brother to the utermost of my power vntill death.

John Wollcott.

I have writt vnto you at this time 3 letters becaus if on miscari the oth er may com to your hands. my sonne John is not com hom from the Indens (Indies).

7. SIMON, b. bet. Sept. 11, 1624/5 in England. See IV.

Mr. Wolcott resided in Windsor, south of the Farmington River, on the road to Hartford. His son, Henry, Jr., had land adjoining his father. The last Will of Henry Wolcott was dictated on the day of his death, May 30, 1655.

LAST WILL

The thirtieth of May (1655), I HENRY WOLCOTT, sick of body, but of perfect memory, do make and ordain this my last will and testament, in manner and form following.

First. I commend my soul to God my maker, hoping assuredly through the only merit of Jesus Christ my Saviour, to be a partaker of life everlasting; and I commend my body to the earth, whereof it was made.

I will that my wife shall have all my house lot, orchard, garden, hopyard and my lot in Plymouth meadow, during the term of her natural life. Also, I give unto my wife two of my cows, and half the household goods in my dwelling house.

Also, I leave my land in England to Henry my eldest son, without encumbrances. Also, I give unto him my two books of martyrs.

Also, I give to Christopher my second son, my lot in the Great meadow, - and also, my house lot and houseing upon it, after the death of my wife, he paying out of it thirty pounds, after my wife's decease, as I shall hereafter appoint.

Also, I give to George my third son, the five pounds he owes me. and five pounds more.

Also, I give to Simon, my youngest son, all my land on the easterly side of the Great River and also my lot at Arramonets.

Also, to the children of Henry, my eldest son, five pounds to Henry the eldest of them, and to the rest of them forty shillings apiece.

I give all the rest of my goods to be equally divided amongst all my children.

Also, I appoint Henry Wolcott, my son, to be overseer of this my will and testament.

Also, my will is, that Christopher, my son, shall have my lot in Plymouth meadow, after the decease of my wife.

My will is that my debts shall be first paid.

Octover 4, 1655. The above written being testified to the Court by Mr. Henry Wolcott, upon oath, and by Mr. Wichfield to be the last will and testament of Mr. Henry Wolcott, senior, deceased, the Court approbated of the same, and ordered it to be recorded.

John Cullick, Secretary.

The inventory of Henry Wolcott's estate, exclusive of property in England, amounted to L 764 8s 10d.

Over the graves of Henry Wolcott and Elizabeth, his wife, there is an arched monument of brown stone. In the cemetery of the First Congregational Church on the north bank of the Farmington River, where many of his descendants are buried.

This monument, erected about thirty-five years from the landing at Plymouth, is still in perfect preservation.

DEED OF GALDON MANOR
By Henry Wolcott to his son Henry

The estate appears to have been largely, if not wholly, that which was conveyed by Robert Mynne to Christopher Wolcott. The last-named condition, requiring the wife, if she survived her husband, to relinquish her legal interest in the estate, was obviously designed to allow it to pass unencumbered to the eldest son in succession, in accordance with the English law of entail. This will appear more fully in the account of the third generation. See V.

Henry Wolcott was in England on business in 1654. He was one of 19 gentlemen named in the Charter of Connecticut; elected a member of House of Deputies in 1660; and the House of Magistrates 1662 and successively after until his death.

The attention of Dr. J. Hammond Trumbull was attracted in 1857 to a vellum-covered volume of about 400 pages in the Connecticut Historical Society, closely written in shorthand, which he deciphered, of notes of sermons and lectures delivered in Windsor and Hartford between April 1638 and May 1641. The writer's name is not given, but his birthday is noted on the first leaf in the volume, in the words "the day I was born was the 21st of January 1610," and this and other facts identify him as Henry Wolcott, Jr. It is a curious fact that the only record of his birth is found among these hieroglyphics.

The Alphabet made use of is nearly the same as that of Willis (published in 1607). Mr. Wolcott kept records in his shorthand volume of his fruit cultivation and of several tenants of his estate in England, which his father had bequeathed to him. He was prominent in church, town, and state affairs.

Mrs. Martha Wolcott was the sister of William Pitkin, Esq., of East Hartford, Attorney-General and Treasurer of the Colony. According to tradition, believed to be authentic, while on a visit to her brother she accepted a proposal of marri age from Simon Wolcott made at the suggestion of leading men of the colony.

In April 1661 Simon Wolcott sold his place in Windsor to the Saunders Brothers, removed to his farm in Simsbury, later returned to Windsor and in 1680 settled o n his land on the eastern side of the Connecticut River in the present town of South Windsor. He was buried in the Windsor churchyard. Epitaph.

His widow, Martha Pitkin Wolcott, m. (2) 1689, Hon. Daniel Clarke, Esq. of Windsor, a widower. A headstone marked her grave in the old South Windsor churchyard, 36-7. SAMUEL, b. Mar. 26, 1679; d. June 25, 1709. Epitaph. First of the family to complete a college course in this country, he graduated from Harvard in 1698.

Mr. Henry Wolcott was elected a member of the House of Deputies in 1686 and subsequently he was for many years the Town Clerk of Windsor.

Real estate in his possession, left in England by the first Henry Wolcott, which had descended by will first to the eldest son, the second Henry Wolcott, and then to his eldest son, the third Henry Wolcott, was sold in 1787 by Henry Allyn, Esq. for £ 850 sterling. As the third Henry Wolcott died without male issue surviving, his estate had naturally reverted to the heirs of his daughters, Mrs. Allyn and Mrs. Chauncy. Their claim was contested by the heirs in the male line. The suit, involving the question of recognition of the English law of primogeniture and entail, was regarded with much interest in the colony. The claim of the Wolcotts was disallowed, the decision causing some unpleasant feeling in the family.

THE OLD WOLCOTT HOMESTEAD IN SOUTH WINDSOR

The four sons of Simon Wolcott (IV) located themselves on the main street in East, now South Windsor. The two eldest, Simon and Henry, about a mile south of the present meeting-house - the latter on the west side of the street; the third, William, about a quarter of a mile further north on the same side; and the fourth, Roger, about a third of a mile north of the meeting-house, also on the west side of the street. The residence occupied the site of Henry's house and the materials of the latter were used in its construction. It stood on a knoll or ridge fronting the east and survived the longest of all the early Wolcott homes * * * the great tree stood in the street opposite.

Roger Wolcott was a Representative of South Windsor in the Connecticut general assembly in 1709, raised to the bench of justices in 1710; accompanied expedition against Canada in 1711; elected member of council in 1714; Judge of County Court in 1724; Judge of Superior Court, 1732; Deputy Governor and Chief-Justice of Supreme Court, 1741. In expedition against Louisbourg in 1745 he was commissioned Major General by Governor Shirley of Massachusetts and was second in command to Pepperell. He arrived at Cape Breton with the troops April 30,and June 17, the city of Louisburg capitulated and the provincial forces entered it.

Governor of Connecticut, 1750-54.

In addition to his political activities he published three pieces or works . The first was peotical, his second publication was ecclesiastical, and his third political. He also wrote an account of the Pequot War in verse.

The Rev. Samuel Wolcott in the Memorial says: "We have no portrait of him. In one of the political squibs of the day he is referred to as 'Stately, smoking Roger.' For the following description of his public appearance, in his official costume, we are indebted, through a friend (Hon. Isaac W. Stuart), to a lady in Wethersfield, Miss Marsh, the daughter of a venerable clergyman long since deceased, who gives it as she received it from her mother, who had often seen him in her childhood: 'He was a visitor at her father's, and the costume of an officer under the regal government was too imposing to pass unnoticed. Several times a week he rode out on houseback, and never appeared abroad but in full-dress. He wore a suit of scarlet broadcloth. The coat was made long, with wide skirts, and trimmed down the whole length in front with gilt buttons, and broad gilt vellum button-holes, two or three inches in length. The cuffs were large and deep, reaching nearly to the elbows, and were ornamented, like the sides of the coat, as were also the pocket-lids, with gilt vellum button-holes and buttons. The waistcoat had skirts, and was richly embroidered. Ruffles at the bosom and over the hands were of lace. He had a flowing wig, and a three-cornered hat with a cockade; and rode slowly and stately a large black horse, whose tail swept the ground.'

A little north of his residence in South Windsor was a public road to the river, where he owned a ferry, connecting with Plymouth Meadow on the other side, the right of which was granted him by the General Court, in 1725. His house was about a third of a mile north of the present meeting-house. He built it in 1704, the year of the attack on Deerfield, and the walls of the front room were covered with a painting descriptive of that scene. The house was taken down a few years since, and some of the panels which belonged to that apartment are preserved in the neighborhood as relics. He spent the last years of his life with his daughters. Mrs. Newberry, in Old Windsor, and was buried there with his fathers, although his home had been on the other side of the river. His estate was inventoried at £1,805,4s. 2d., and was distributed among his surviving sons and daughters, and the children of his deceased son Roger."

TANKARD AND CUP

The silver tankard and silver cup, mentioned in his will, still in the family, bear each an engraving of the Wolcott arms, and also the initials $_{R}^{W}{}_{S}$. The church in South Windsor has two valuable communion cups of silver, which he ordered from England and presented to it, bearing the initials, the one of his own name, the other of his wife's, with the date; "R.W. 1756," "S.W. 1756." It is not improbable that all these pieces were procured at the same time.

TABLECLOTH AND DOCKET

A table cloth bearing his initials and used by him at the time of the siege of Louisburg, and also a docket, kept in his handwriting, of the cases which came before him as magistrate, are now in the possession of Rev. Wolcott B. Williams, of the Seventh Generation, residing at Charlotte, Michigan. The latter, a book, with the substantial binding and written in the lasting ink of the period, is a matchless heirloom.

An obituary sketch appeared in the "Connecticut Courant" of July 27 succeeding, entitled, - "Memoirs of the Life and Character of the Honorable Roger Wolcott, Esq., late Governor of Connecticut." (We omit some portions).

"This great and good man was descended from honorable parents. He was one of those happy few whose minds seem to be formed with an original strength and force, not to be suppressed by misfortune or want of exterior advantages; and though this did not appear early, yet, like the hidden gem in the mountain, was daily ripening, in due time to be produced to light, polished, and make a shining appearance in many exalted stations in life.

"As soon as he left his master, he was determined to have a liberal education, if possible, but on taking an inventory of his estate, he found it not to amount to fifty pounds, so he was obliged to drop that design; but, still unalterably determined not to remain in a state of ignorance, he borrowed such books as he could get, and read with attention; and, having a retentive memory and solid natural judgment, what he read he retained, digested, and made his own. He got an acquaintance with men of the best abilities of his time, and by an indefatigable industry and application got acquainted with most branches of literature; for he was an exact chronologer, well acquainted with history, ecclesiastical and civil, and geography, both ancient and modern, and with the Newtonian philosophy, and most of the curious discoveries of the moderns.

"He had a taste for the Belles Lettres; and some poetical pieces he has left behind, to show that, had his Genious been well cultivated, he might have made a considerable figure among the Sons of the Muses.

"But the law and arts of government were his favorite study. Accordingly, he soon made his appearance at the barr, where he distinguished himself so far as to be soon called into public employment.

"He filled the post of Governor, as he had the rest, to good acceptance, till the affair of the Spanish ship, a considerable part of whose rich cargo being embezzled through the indolence, inadequateness, and inattention of the Spanish merchant, the freemen were by some designing person made to believe that the loss was occasioned through Governor Wolcott's fault, and that the people must be taxed for repayment.

"He retired with composed, unruffled grandeur, cheerfully referring it to Divine Providence to find means to evidence that innocence that he had an inward consciousness of; nor were his expectations disappointed, for we suppose every one is now fully convinced that that affair was well conducted, - and that to a wonder, considering its suddenness, and the little acquaintance this Colony had in affairs of this nature.

"After his retirement from public life, he divided his time between devotion, reading (which was principally church history, and the works of the most celebrated divines, especially Doct. Owen and Doct. Bates), agriculture, - his beloved employ, - and the enjoyment of his friends.

"And though his constitution was excellent, yet as he knew that, in the course of nature, the time of his departure was at hand, his great and constant business was to stand with his loyns girt and his lamp burning, waiting for the coming of his Lord. Thus he lived till about the middle of April last, when he complained of a disorder in his legs, which soon turned of a livid color, his strength from that time declining fast, till Sunday, May 17th, on which day, about noon, his constitution (firm as it was), not being able to longer support itself, sunk under the weight of old age, he being then in the eighty-ninth year of his age.

"His funeral was, agreeable to his own directions, attended without much pomp or show; at which time the Hon. Deputy Governor Trumball, and Hezekiah Huntington, Esq., from the Upper House, and eight of the principal members from the Lower House, being specially appointed for that purpose by the General Assembly, then sitting in Hartford, attended, and delivered a message to the mourners, wherein they did honor to the wisdom, patriotic spirit, religion, and virtue that adorned his life, and expressed their full approbation of his public services in the various posts he sustained in this Colony.

"His body was strong and well proportioned; his countenance and deportment particularly adapted to command reverence and esteem; his wit was ready, and uncommonly bright; his method of reasoning (free from sophistry) was clear, nervous, and manly, as became a generous inquirer after truth, and not a noisy wrangler for victory only. He was a sincere, unfailing friend to every industrious, virtuous, honest man, who acted his part well, whatever was his station in life; but the indolent sluggard, and soft enervated, unexerting debauchee was his aversion. All persons of true piety were his delight. He was a true friend to regular and firm government, and was an equal enemy to tyranny on the one hand, and licentiousness on the other. He thought that the practice of industry, economy, frugality, and temperance was the only way to relieve this Colony, and America in general, from their present distresses, and therefore was often recommending them.

"He was a wise legislator and an able statesman. While he was a judge, he held the balance of justice with a steady unwavering hand; and being far superior to venality, or the influence of personal, family, or party connections, he pronounced the law impartially, on all the cases brought before him. As a governor he appeared to advantage; this was his proper element, for he seemed originally formed to govern. He was a kind and provident husband and parent. His moral character was unblemished, his religion and peity were unaffected; and he died as he had long lived, a member of the Second Church in Windsor. In short, we take this to be one of the few lives spent in so useful and exemplary a manner, that 'tis worth while to hold it up in view of the world, as being in general worthy of their imitation."

The following notices of the life of Gov. Oliver Wolcott, Sen., are copied from family documents. The original sketch, published in Sanderson's "Biography of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence" (III. 63-67), is among these papers, having been drawn up by his son, the late Gov. Oliver Wolcott, Jr.

On leaving College, he received a commission as Captain in the Army, from Gov. George Clinton, of New York, and immediately raised a company, at the head of which he marched to the defence of the Northern Frontiers, where he served until the Regiment to which he was attached was disbanded, in consequence of the peace of Aix-la-Chapelle. He then returned to Connecticut and studied medicine, under the direction of his Brother, Dr. Alexander Wolcott, then a distinguished practitioner. Before he was established in practice, the County of Litchfield was organized, and he was appointed the first sheriff of the county, in 1751. He settled in Litchfield, and was a representative of the Town in the General Assembly. In the year 1774, he was chosen an Assistant or Councillor, to which station he was annually elected till the year 1786. While a member of the Council, he was also Chief Judge of the Court of Common Pleas for the County, and for many years Judge of the Court of Probate for the district of Litchfield. He served in the militia, in every grade of office, from that of Captain to that of Major-General. On all the questions preliminary to the Revolutionary War he was a firm advocate of the American cause.

At the Town Meeting held in Litchfield, Aug. 17, 1774, to consider the Resolutions of the Legislature, on the subject of the Boston Port Bill, he presided, and drew up the eloquent preamble and resolutions then adopted, which we give in their place.

He was chosen a member of the Continental Congress, and in July, 1775, was appointed by that body one of the Commissioners of Indian affairs for the Northern Department, - a trust of great importance, its object being to induce the Indian nations to remain neutral during the war. While he was engaged in this business, the controversies respecting the boundaries between Connecticut and Pennsylvania, and between New York and Vermont, menaced the tranquillity of the Colonies, and exposed them to the seductions of British partisans. His influence was exerted with great effect to compromise these disputes, and to unite the New England settlers in support of the American cause.

In January, 1776, he attended at Philadelphia the session of Congress at which the Declaration of Independence was adopted, of which he was one of the Signers. In this connection Barlow thus refers to him in his poem, the "Vision of Columbus":

"Bold Wolcott urged the all-important cause,
With steady hand the solemn scene he draws;
Undaunted firmness with his wisdom joined,
Nor Kings nor Worlds could warp his steadfast mind."

During the session he returned to Connecticut. He carried with him from the city of New York the leaden statue of King George III, which was converted into bullets at Litchfield, under his direction. On the 15th of August, he was appointed by Governor Trumbull and the Council of Safety to command fourteen Regiments of the Connecticut Militia, which were ordered for the defence of New York. This duty he performed, till the force, amounting to more than five thousand men, was subdivided into four brigades. He then returned home for a few weeks.

In November, 1776, he resumed his seat in Congress, and accompanied that Body to Baltimore, during the eventful winter of 1777.

On the 17th of January, he was appointed by the General Assembly of Connecticut, Brigadier-General, and was constantly employed, the ensuing summer, in superintending detachments of militia, and corresponding on military subjects. After detaching several thousand men to the assistance of General Putnam on the North River, he headed a corps of between three and four hundred volunteers, who joined the Northern Army under General Gates, and took command of a Brigade of Militia, and aided in reducing the British Army under General Burgoyne. From February to July, 1778, he attended Congress at Yorktown.

In the summer of 1779, he was in the field at the head of a Division of Militia, for the defence of the sea-coast. During the severe winter of 1779-80, famine added its terrors to excessive cold. The deep snows in the mountain region of the State, and the explosion of the paper system, rendered it almost impossible to procure the necessaries of life. Connecticut had been in the foremost ranks of the supporters of the war; she had contributed freely from her narrow resources, and the blood of her sons had moistened every battlefield. And now, when cold and hunger threatened their utmost rigors, and a dark cloud hung over the fate of the country, the courage of her citizens failed not. The records of her Towns - the votes of recruits to the army and of bread to the suffering - showed that she had counted the cost of the struggle, and was ready to meet it. It may well be supposed that the resources of so zealous an advocate for the war as General Wolcott were not withheld. Every dollar that could be spared from the maintenance of the family was expended in raising and supplying men; every blanket not in actual use was sent to the Army, and the sheets were torn into bandages or cut into lint by the hands of his wife and daughters. From 1781 to 1783, he occasionally attended Congress. In 1784 and 1785, he was one of the Commissioners of Indian affairs for the Northern Department, and in concert with Richard Butler and Arthur Lee prescribed the terms of peace to the Six Nations of Indians. His military services, his known probity and judgment, his ardent attachment to the Republican cause, and his social standing, all contributed to give him an extended influence, which was faithfully exerted for the public good. From the beginning to the end of the Revolutionary War, he was constantly engaged, either in the Council or in the field.

In 1786, he was elected Lieutenant-Governor of Connecticut, and annually thereafter, until he was chosen Governor. In November, 1787, he was chosen a member of the State Convention which adopted the Constitution of the United States. In November, 1789, he was further appointed by the State, in connection with Samuel H. Parsons and James Davenport, to hold a treaty with the Wyandottes and other Indians, for extinguishing their title to the Western Reserve of Connecticut.

Philadelphia 1. Feby 1796

Sir,

I have been duly honored with your letter of the 21st Ult.o announcing the death of Mr. Huntington, late Governor of Connecticut. —

At the same time that I regret the loss of so worthy a character, I cannot but feel consoled, that the administration of the Government of that State has fallen into such good hands as yours. — and let me pray you to accept my sincere thanks for the assurance therein given of your readiness to observe the relationship which it bears to the general Government.

I feel equally obliged by the expression of your concern for the attacks which have been made upon my administration. — If the enlightened, and virtuous part of the Community will make allowances for my involuntary errors, I will promise they shall have no cause to accuse me of wilful ones. — Hoping for the Lord, I feel no concern or regard of the latter -

Courtenay, as far as my knowledge of him extends, is a very decent character - He discharges the duties of his Office with capacity and ability, and I am persuaded may be a defiance to all those who seem to be continually on the lookout for occasions, without being at the trouble to investigate facts, to censure the conduct of Public Officers. -

With great esteem & respect
I am - Sir

The Hon.ble
Oliver Wolcott

In the fall of 1796, he was chosen a Presidential Elector, in which capacity he voted for John Adams and Thomas Pinckney. The same year, he was chosen Governor, which office he held until his death, in the seventy-second year of his age.

Such is a brief catalogue of the more important political offices and services of Oliver Wolcott, the elder. During a long and laborious life devoted to public service, he enjoyed the unremitted confidence of his fellow-citizens.

The account in the handwriting of General Wolcott, referring to the statue of George the Third previously mentioned, follows:

The following additional memorandum is in the handwriting of his son, Oliver Wolcott, Jr.:

"N. B. An equestrian statue of George the Third of Great Britain, was erected in the city of New York on the Bowling Green, at the lower end of Broadway; most of the materials were lead, but richly gilded to resemble gold. At the beginning of the revolution this statue was overthrown. Lead being then scarce and dear, the statue was broken in pieces, and the metal transported to Litchfield as a place of safety. The ladies of this village converted the lead into cartridges, of which the preceding is an account.

O. W."

For a careful examination of all the evidence, and a minute list of the authorities relating to this incident, see Woodruff's History of Litchfield.

Of the many letters written by Oliver Wolcott and received by him from prominent men of his day we present a facsimile of one from General Washington.

DEED OF EMANCIPATION

Know all men by these presents, that I, Oliver Wolcott, of Litchfield, in the State of Connecticut, in expectation that my negro servant man, Caesar, will by his industry be able to obtain a comfortable subsistence for himself, and that he will make a proper use of the Freedom which I hereby give him, do discharge, liberate and set free, him, the said Caesar, and do hereby exempt h i m from any further obligation of servitude to me, my heirs, and every other person claiming any authority over him, by, from, or under me.

And that my said servant, whom I now make free as aforesaid, may be known hereafter by a proper cognomen, I hereby give him the name of Jamus - so t h a t here-after he is to be known and distinguished by the name of Caesar Jamus. As witness my hand and seal in Litchfield, Nov. 23d A. D., 1786.

REVOLUTIONARY RESOLVES OF THE TOWN OF LITCHFIELD, DRAFTED BY Oliver Wolcott, Sen.

At a meeting of the Inhabitants of Litchfield, legally warned and held in Litchfield on the 17th day of August, A. D., 1774.
Oliver Wolcott, Esq., Moderator.

The Inhabitants of Litchfield in legal Town Meeting assembled on the 17th day of August, 1774 - taking into Consideration the Distresses to which the Poor of the Town of Boston may likely be reduced by the Operation of an Act of t h e British Parliament for blocking up their Port, and deeply commiserating the Unhappiness of a brave and loyal People who are thus eminently suffering in a General Cause, for vindicating what every sensible virtuous American considers an essential Right of this Country, - think it their indispensable Duty to a f f o r d their unhappy and distressed Brethren of said Town of Boston all reasonable Aid and Support; and this they are the more readily induced to, not only as the Inhabitants of said Town are thus severely condemned for their Reluctance to submit to an arbitrary, an unconsented-to, and consequently unconstitutional Taxation , but the whole of the great and loyal Province of the Massachusetts Bay have been condemned unheard in the Loss of their Charter Privileges by the heretofore unknown and unheard-of exertions of parliamentary Power; which they conceive is a Power claimed and exercised in such a manner as cannot fail of striking every unprejudiced Mind with Horror and Amazement, as being subversive to all those inherent, essential, and constitutional Rights, Liberties, and Privileges which the good People of this Colony have ever held sacred and even dearer than Life itself, nor ever can with to survive - not only every Idea of Property, but every Emolument of Civil Life, being thereby rendered precarious and uncertain.

In full Confidence, therefore, that no Degree of Evil thus inflicted on said Town and Province will ever induce them to give up or betray their own and t h e American Constitutional Rights and Privileges, especially as they cannot but entertain the most pleasing Expectations that the Committees of the several N o r t h American Provinces, who are soon to meet at Philadelphia, will in their Wisdom be able to point out a Method of Conduct effectual for obtaining Redress of t h o s e Grievances - a Method to which (when once agreed upon by said Committees' w i l l look upon it their Duty strictly to attend.

In the mean time, we earnestly recommend that Subscriptions be forthwith opened in this Town under the Care of Reuben Smith, Esq., Capt. Lynde Lord, and Mr.

Mrs OLIVER WOLCOTT.

(LAURA COLLINS.)

William Staunton, who are hereby appointed a Committee to receive and forward to the Selectment of Boston, for the use of the Poor in that Place, all such donations as shall be thereupon made for that Purpose; as also to correspond with the Committee of Correspondence there or elsewhere as there may be occasion. We also take this Opportunity publickly to return our thanks to the Members of the Honble House of Representatives of this Colony, for their patriotic and loyal Resolutions passed and published in the last Assembly, on the Occasion, and order them to be entered at large on the public Records of this Town - that succeeding Ages may be faithfully furnished with authentic Credentials of our inflexible Attachment to those inestimable Privileges, which we glory in esteeming our inalienable Birthright and Inheritance.

RESOLUTIONS OF THE LADIES OF HARTFORD

The Ladies in this City, attentive to the impoverished state of their Country, and to the well-founded charge of extravagance in our manner of living, offer to their sisters in this State the following considerations:

1. We consider it as a general truth, that the manners and fashions of every country should be adapted to its particular situation and circumstances.

2. We believe that the English and French fashions, which require the manufacture of an infinite variety of gewgaws and frippery, may be highly beneficial and even necessary in the countries where those articles are made; as they furnish employment and subsistence for poor people.

3. We believe, also, that it is very politic in foreign nations to introduce their fashions into this country, as they thus make a market for their useless manufactures, and enrich themselves at our expense.

4. But we are of the opinion, at the same time, that our implicit submission to the fashions of other countries is highly derogatory to the reputation of Americans, as it renders us dependent on the interest, or caprice, of foreigners, both for taste and manners; it prevents the exercise of our own ingenuity, and makes us the slaves of the milliners and mantua-makers in London or Paris.

5. We consider, also, that this servile imitation of foreign fashions is one of the circumstances which operate to embarass and distress this country.

6. We also consider many of the fashions which now prevail among us as in many respects extremely inconvenient, and consequently as proceeding from a false taste in dress, or a total want of taste.

7. We are of opinion that an attention to industry and economy, among all ages and ranks of people, is an infinitely better way to promote the prosperity, and to relieve the distresses, of this country, than quarrelling with laws, debts, and courts of justice.

Convinced of these truths, and desirous of silencing all complaints of extravagance, and of contributing all in our power to deliver the country from this slavery of fashions, and the consequent expenses and embarrassments, we subscribe the following Articles:

Art. 1. That after the signing of these articles, we will not purchase, or wear, any superfluous articles of dress, such as gauze, ribbons, flowers, feathers, lace, and other trimmings and frippery, designed merely as ornaments.

Art. 2. That we will not purchase the richer kinds of articles which are used as necessary dress; such as silks, muslins, expensive hats, &c., except a single suit for a wedding, or for mourning; but that for the future we will wear on visits, and in public places, such articles only as we have on hand, or newly purchased calicoes and other cheap articles, without ornaments or trimmings.

Art. 3. That we will endeavor to retrench the expenses of visits and entertainments, by not suffering them to interrupt our attention to industry, by reducing the number and price of the articles which furnish our tables, and particularly by giving the preference to such articles of provision as our own country supplies.

Art. 4. That we will not attend a public or private Assembly oftener than once in three weeks.

Art. 5. That we will use our influence to diffuse an attention to industry and frugality, and to render these virtues reputable and permanent.

Conscious to ourselves that our intentions are laudable, and calculated to secure the reputation, the morals, the prosperity, and the social happiness of our Country, we shall pay no regard to any reflections, or ridicule, that may be cast upon our conduct; but now pledge ourselves to each other and to the world, that we will carry these resolutions into practice.

Two portraits of him, duplicates, by Earle, have been preserved. One of these is in the Capitol at Hartford, presented by his grandson, the late Dr. John S. Wolcott. This has been engraved for Sanderson's "Lives of the Signers," from a reduced copy by his granddaughter, Mrs. Laura W. Gibbs. The other is in the library of the Connecticut Historical Society, at Hartford, presented by Mrs. Gibbs.

In connection with the preceding sketch of General Wolcott, honorable mention is due to Mrs. Wolcott. During his almost constant absence from home while engaged in the arduous service of the Revolutionary War, she educated their children and conducted the domestic concerns of the family, including the management of a small farm, with a degree of fortitude, perseverance, frugality, and intelligence, equal to that which in the best days of ancient Rome distinguished her most illustrious matrons. Without her aid, his public services could not have been rendered, without involving a total sacrifice of the interests of his family; with her aid, his house was a seat of comfort and hospitality, and by means of her assistance he retained during life a small estate, a part of which was a patrimonial inheritance.

Her portrait, also by Earle, presents her as a woman of fine countenance and majestic figure, and authenticates the current tradition that in her day she was the most beautiful woman in the village. Her remains lie beneath the same monument with her husband's, in the east graveyard of Litchfield.

To the Memory
of
Oliver Wolcott, late Governor
of
the State of Connecticut, who was born Dec. 1st, 1726,
& who died Dec. 1st, 1797.

Also of Laura Wolcott
who was born Jan. 1st, 1732,
& who died Apr. 19, 1794. (Epitaph)

On the monument are inscribed the Arms of Wolcott, with the family motto, "Nullius jurare in verba."

I. Henry Calvin, b. 1835; d. 1911.

483-7. HENRY, b. Sept. 4, 1805; d. Sept. 25, 1805.

Oliver Wolcott was appointed in 1784 a commissioner to adjust and settle the claim of Connecticut against the United States. Comptroller of public accounts , 1788-89; auditor, 1789-91; Comptroller of the U. S. Treasury 1791-95; Secretary of the Treasury, succeeding Alexander Hamilton, 1795-1800; was appointed Judge of the Second Circuit Court in 1801; later engaged in business; founded Bank of North America and was chosen first president 1812-1814; Governor of Connecticut 1817-27, being the third of his family in lineal succession who attained that honor. Received honorary degree of LL.D. from Brown and Princeton in 1799 and from Yale in 1819.

During the pressing occupations of his public life he never forgot his literary tastes, - his retentive memory enabling him to recall long passages of the British poets, with whom he was specially familiar. During this period he became the author of some of the ablest papers in the Records of the State. His annual Messages to the Legislature, his Veto of the act known as the Steamboat Bill, his Plan of Taxation, and his Draft of the new Constitution, fully sustained the reputation for ability which he had gained in the Cabinet of Washington.

After his retirement from public life, he returned to the city of New York , and his few remaining years were passed at the home of his son-in-law, Col. George Gibbs, or in its vicinity. He was buried in Litchfield. The monument in the Litchfield Cemetery bears the Family Arms. He was the last survivor of Washington's Cabinet.

He has left behind him a valuable collection of manuscripts - more than fifty folio volumes. They embrace a full correspondence with the able political leaders of his party, and the public men of that period, - Washington, Hamilton, Ames, Cabot, Ellsworth, Pickering, Griswold, King, Hillhouse, Hopkinson, Quincy, and others, - gentlemen in whose confidence he stood high, and in whose counsels he actively participated. Volumes, embracing a portion of these papers, have been already published.

The Common Council of the city of New York, on the occasion of his death , unanimously adopted the following resolution, June 3, 1833:

"Resolved, That this Board, entertaining a high respect for the Character of the Honorable OLIVER WOLCOTT, late Governor of the State of Connecticut, lately deceased, will attend his Funeral; and that a Copy of this Resolution be furnished by the Clerk to the Family of the deceased."

Several portraits of him exist. One is by Colonel Trumbull, and was painted for the Hon. Josiah Quincy, of Boston; was bequeathed by him to Professor Wolcott Gibbs, of Harvard University. Another, painted by Gilbert Stuart, is in the Capitol at Hartford; another, painted by R. Earle, is in the library of the Connecticut Historical Society, Hartford. A later portrait is a crayon sketch, by Rembrandt Peale, of much value as a likeness, taken, it is said, while the Governor was delivering his Inaugural Address to the Legislature. An admirable bust, executed after his death, by Mr. S. V. Clevenger, is in the possession of the family.

Soon after leaving College Frederick Wolcott entered upon the study of the Law, but was prevented by ill-health from engaging in its practice. He was ap- pointed Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas in 1793, and in 1798 Clerk of the Su- perior Court of Litchfield Co., then first established. These offices he held until 1836, and on his resignation the County Court issued a special order, ex- pressing "their most unqualified approbation of the fidelity, integrity, a n d courtesy with which he has performed the various duties of the office." In 1796, he was also appointed Judge of Probate of the District, which last post he r e- tained till his death. He was a Representative of the Town in the General Assem- bly, and in 1808 he was chosen one of the Presidential Electors. He was elected a member of the State Senate in 1810, and annually thereafter until 1823. During the last six years of his service as Senator, he was one of the Fellows of Y a l e College, - his brother, as Governor of the State, being at the same time a member of the Board. Monument in Litchfield Cemetery bears the arms of Wolcott Family .

Feb. 16, 1910, in City of Mexico on a return trip from Yucatan. He attended school until 18, spending latter years at Canandaigua, N. Y. Academy. Started work as a designer in a furniture factory in Rochester, N.

Y., studying in the evening architecture, wood engraving, sculpture and modeling. Res: Grand Rapids, 1885. A designer for Phoenix Furniture Co. and later made treasurer. His designs were of such grace and excellence he soon became known as the dean of the world's furniture designers. His ability and high order of intelligence in subjects of art and history gained him ready entrance into artistic circles. A little over a year previous to death he visited the Orient. His home was filled with rare and beautiful curios picked up on his travels. Though rather exclusive in his friendship, those to whom he gave his confidence found him an intensely interesting man.

As a craftsman he was daring in his originality. His venturesome skill is largely responsible for the vogue of metal parts and other carving substitutes in wood ornamentation. He was first to bring out antique oak, the 16th Century and Early English finishes, including cremona, malachite or forest green and tobacco brown. Had he been able to control by patents the different finishes he had introduced, he would have made a fortune. He brought out the McKinley chair, designed on simple lines, spacious and comfortable. This had a great sale and is said to be the real basis for modern arts and crafts furniture.

He was an accomplished furniture designer, carver, mechanic, clay worker, sculptor, artist in oil and water colors, photographer, musician and scientist, a chemist in wood stains and finishes; an anatomist, literary and art critic, historian and bibliophile. His name will be remembered in the history of furniture as long as Edison's in the history of electricity, Marconi's in telegraphy, or Lister's in medicine.

Roger Wolcott, Class Orator and graduate of Harvard College, 1870; Harvard Law School graduate, 1874; member of Boston Common Council 1877-79; Representative in State Legislature 1882-84, was first President of Republican Club of Mass. in 1891. He was Lieutenant-Governor of Mass. 1893-96, being acting Governor for most of the latter year and Governor 1897-99. He declined a position on Philippine Commission in 1900, and an appointment as U. S. Ambassador to Italy. Held membership in the Mass. Historical Society; the Society of the Cincinnati; Loyal Legion and Society of Colonial Wars. An overseer of Harvard Uni. 1885-1895, and director and trustee in many business and charitable organizations. Received honorary degree of LL.D. from Williams College, 1897. Res: Boston, Mass. (summer home at Milton, Mass.).

He was bound in many ways by ties of affection and sympathy to thousands of men, women and children throughout the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. There is a statue of him in the State House in Boston, erected by popular subscription.

Of him it has been written by Bishop William Lawrence, who was his friend for more than forty years, "There was that about him which defies analysis, which eludes definition, but which is found in those rare characters, who, like Philip Sydney, Chevalier Bayard, or Robert Louis Stevenson, gain our confidence, win our admiration, kindle our affection, and who, in their unconsciousness, make us conscious that we are in chivalric company. He was a practical New Englander with a dash of idealism without which no New England character is complete. From boyhood he gained the affection of all sorts of people. He drank deep, in poems, history, and the Bible, of chivalric life. In form and countenance, in presence and atmosphere, he was of nature's noblest." (From "Roger Wolcott" by William Lawrence.).

SAMUEL[2] WOLCOTT (Samuel[1])d. 1809, Cheshire, Mass., buried Shoreham, Vt.; m. Mar. 29, 1750, Lucy, dau. of Samuel Wright, of Wethersfield, Conn. He was an early settler in the town of Shoreham, Vt., locating in northern part of town. He was to receive a grant of 1,300 acres providing he procured 20 settlers during a period of 59 years. This he would undoubtedly have received had he not been driven off by Indians and Tories during the Revolution. He remained 74 years - consequently the terms of the grant was broken and he received but 100 acres. Also resided Goshen, Vt. abt. 1753; Lanesboro, Mass., abt. 1763; Shoreham, Addison Co., Vt. in fall of 1773 and after the capture of Ft. Ticonderoga he removed to Berkshire Co., Mass., where he lived until 1783.

He owned and sold the property mentioned in Stiles' "Ancient Wethersfield " (Vol. 1, p. 480) to Joseph Webb, afterwards known as Webb House. This property is claimed by Stiles to have been ancestral in the Wolcott family having been bought by Henry (II) of Windsor from Clement Cheplin for his son Samuel Wolcott. Samuel[2] Wolcott's sons all claimed to be descendants of Henry Wolcott of Windsor. Revolutionary War service: With Ethan Allen at capture of Ft. Ticonderoga. Children:
